

The First and Second Grade Theatre Classes
Proudly Present

The Three Billy Goats Gruff

The students have been studying the play the Three Billy Goats Gruff. They chose their characters, made masks (which will be worn like hats), practiced their character work, blocking, and lines for the last several weeks. At the end of the unit, the students will perform the play for an audience. I am sending home their scripts for them to practice their lines at home. These scripts may remain at home. We have another set for the classroom. Thank you in advance for any assistance you can give your child to prepare for his/her upcoming performance.

Families, friends, staff, and administration are all invited to attend our performances in room 313 on the dates and times listed below.

The students may wear clothing colors that represent their characters. For example-

- The Narrators could dress up a little (any colors).
- The Billy Goats could wear white, tan, grey, brown, or black
- The Trolls could wear green or brown
- The Bridge could wear tan, grey, or brown

They do not need to wear full costumes. They already have hats, so please do not send in hats or hair decorations. They can use clothing they have at home. There is no need to go shopping! If you don't have these colors, something similar would work fine.
